EXPERIENCE

PhatMojo, LLC. Los Angeles, CA/ Remote Packaging Design Manager

07.10.2018 - Present

As a Packaging Manager and Senior Packaging & Graphic Designer at PhatMojo, I led end-to-end packaging development across multiple high-volume toy and consumer product lines. I owned all mechanicals, die-lines, and production-ready artwork, ensuring accuracy, brand cohesion, and manufacturability across a wide range of SKUs. My role combined hands-on execution with building and maintaining workflows, organizing spec libraries, and strengthening communication between design, product development, marketing, and licensing teams.

A major part of my work centered on partnering closely with global vendors and factories. I managed communication across China and U.S. manufacturing partners, completed on-site production reviews, and oversaw sample approvals to ensure color consistency, material quality, and structural integrity. This cross-functional coordination allowed me to anticipate production issues early, streamline proof cycles, and protect premium design intent from concept through final output—while also supporting sustainability and cost-optimization across key programs.

I also mentored junior designers and contributed to shaping a more cohesive creative pipeline for the packaging team, improving speed, clarity, and consistency in a fast-paced environment. I delivered packaging for top-performing brands such as Blox Fruits, Dress to Impress, Poppy Playtime, and multiple Roblox IPs—producing high-quality cartons, blisters, CDUs, hang tags, and retail displays. This combination of leadership, production expertise, and collaborative problem-solving has equipped me to drive premium, scalable packaging solutions within ambitious timelines and evolving business needs.
